AGRICULTURAL PRICES IN INDIA 1958

ISSUED BY THE
ECONOMIC AND STATISTICAL ADVISER
MINISTRY OF FOOD & AGRICULTURE

P R E F A C E

This is the ninth issue of Agricultural Prices in India. It describes the position of agricultural prices in 1958 and includes statistical tables on farm (harvest), wholesale and retail prices of various agricultural commodities. The data have been drawn from a variety of sources such as State bulletins, journals and gazettes, publications of other Ministries and F.A.O. literature and therefore may not have the same measure of accuracy. Any views expressed in the Introduction should not be taken as necessarily those of the Government of India.

The detailed work involved in the compilation of this publication was done in the Agricultural Wages, Prices and Tariffs Branch of this Directorate.

INTRODUCTION

During the year under review, prices showed a rising trend which was due partly to a significant decline in foodgrains production in 1957-58 season and partly to an expansion in money supply and bank credit. Production of foodgrains during 1957-58 declined by 6·24 million tons or 9·1 per cent as compared to the previous year's production of 68·75 million tons. The Plan outlay in the public sector rose from Rs. 614 crores in 1956-57 to Rs. 863 crores in 1957-58 and further to an estimated amount of Rs. 1,024 crores in 1958-59, accompanied by an increase in money supply from Rs. 2,313 crores in 1956-57 to Rs. 2,389 crores in 1957-58 and Rs. 2,499 crores in 1958-59. The volume of deficit financing also rose from Rs. 238 crores in 1956-57 to Rs. 499 crores in 1957-58. It, however, dropped to Rs. 156 crores in 1958-59. These monetary factors stimulated effective demand, which, coupled with a decline in foodgrains production, resulted in a general uptrend in price levels during 1958.

During the year under review, the wholesale prices of all commodities started rising from February 1958 and reached their peak levels in September 1958. Thereafter, due to various regulatory measures and a bumper kharif crop during 1958-59, prices tended to look down. At the close of 1958 the general price level was still 4·4 points higher than that at the end of 1957. The Economic Adviser's index number of wholesale prices of all commodities, which stood at 107 in December 1957 and at 106 in January 1958 (Base: 1952-53=100) slightly declined to 104·7 during February 1958. Thereafter it rose continuously and attained the highest level of 116·5 in September 1958 again to come down gradually to 111·4 in December 1958.

The rise in prices was particularly marked for "Food Articles" and "Industrial Raw Materials". Significantly the bulk of the rise in prices during the year 1958 occurred in the group "Food Articles". The index of food articles rose from 104 in December 1957 to 121·2 in September 1958 i.e. by 16·5 per cent. However, it receded to 113·3 in December 1958 which was higher by about a point than the highest level of 112·2 reached in August 1957 and by 9·3 points in December 1957. The index of industrial raw materials after gradually declining from 115·4 in December 1957 to 111·1 in February 1958 rose to 119 in September 1958 but again receded to 112·5 in December 1958.

FOODGRAINS

Production of foodgrains (cereals and pulses) amounted to 62·51 million tons in 1957-58, the lowest during the last four years as against 68·75 million tons in 1956-57 showing thereby a decline of 6·24 million tons or 9·1 per cent from the previous year's record level; both cereals and pulses shared in the decline. Output of cereals in 1957-58 was put at 53·00 million tons as against 57·25 million tons in the preceding year. Output of pulses was 9·51 million tons compared with 11·50 million tons in 1956-57. Except for jowar, bajra and, in a small measure, maize, the output of all foodgrains showed a decrease in 1957-58 over the preceding year.

The significant decline in foodgrains production in 1957-58 affected the flow of supplies to the market. Consequently prices of foodgrains tended to rise after February 1958. The upward trend of prices was accelerated after May 1958 when it was clear that the production of rabi crops was also lower than in the previous year. While up to the end of May, the index number of prices of most of the foodgrains stood lower than those in the corresponding months of 1957, the period from June was characterised by a strong upward trend in prices. With a view to arresting the upward trend in foodgrains prices, the Government took various regulatory measures during the year under review. Among the measures taken by the authorities to check the rise in prices were distribution of large quantities of rice and wheat at below market rates through a net-work of fair price shops, maintenance of foodgrains' imports at a high level, further tightening up of the existing regulatory measures, extension of the zonal arrangements to more areas and other restrictions on movement of foodgrains with a view to promoting regional self-sufficiency, checking profiteering and speculative activity, enlargement of purchases and Government distribution programmes, announcement of maximum control prices of rice and paddy in some States, prohibition of forward trading in foodgrains, licensing of foodgrains dealers and millers in all the important States and imposition and extension throughout the country of the ban on roller flour mills from making open market purchases. As a result of all these measures and brighter prospects for the 1958-59 kharif foodgrains, prices declined after October 1958. The index of food articles which had touched 121·2 in October fell to 118 in November and to 113·3 in December.

The price trends for individual commodities are discussed below—

Rice—As a result of the adverse weather conditions experienced at different stages during the year, production of rice, during 1957-58 fell to a low level of 21·89 million tons as against the output of 28·28 million tons in 1956-57. On account of the shortfall in the output, prices of rice tended to rise. The all-India index of rice prices which stood at 99 in February 1958 rose to 118·2 in September i.e. by 19·4 per cent. However, with brighter prospects of the 1958-59 rice crop, the prices of rice began to decline from October 1958. Thus, the rice price index dropped to 97·5 in December i.e. by 8·6 per cent.

Prices of rice at different centres also witnessed a more or less similar trend. At Tihu (Assam), the price of rice rose from Rs. 20·50 per maund in January to Rs. 26·00 in September and then began to decline so as to touch Rs. 17·00 in December. At Dumka (Bihar), the price of rice rose continuously from Rs. 20·50 in January to Rs. 28·50 in August and thereafter declined steadily to Rs. 19·00 in December. At Raipur (Madhya Pradesh), the price of rice went up gradually from Rs. 15·00 in February to Rs. 17·00 in September and thereafter receded to Rs. 12·00 in December. At Cuttack (Orissa), the price of rice ruled at Rs. 14·87 in January which later rose to Rs. 18·81 in August and then declined to Rs. 12·94 in December. At Kanpur (U.P.), the price of rice increased from Rs. 20 in January to Rs. 26·67 in August and then receded to Rs. 19·39 in November. At Saintia (West Bengal), the price of rice rose from Rs. 19·00 in January to Rs. 28·50 in September and then declined to Rs. 20·00 in December. In the Southern States, rice prices started rising later in the year, but continued to do so almost up to the end of the year. Thus at Nizamabad (Andhra Pradesh), the price of rice rose from Rs. 17·35 in May to Rs. 20·00 in November. In December, the price, however, showed a fall and touched the level of Rs. 15·15. At Trivandrum (Kerala), the price rose from Rs. 16·50 in March 1958 to Rs. 23·18 in November, and then declined to Rs. 21·57 in December. Similarly at Shimoga (Mysore), the price of rice rose from Rs. 16·66 in January to Rs. 19·33 in October and then declined to Rs. 16·25 in December. At Kumbakonam (Madras), the price started to look up gradually, going up from Rs. 17·75 in April to Rs. 23·25 in December.

Millets and Maize—The production of millets (jowar, bajra and small millets) in 1957-58 was estimated at 13·44 million tons as against 12·10 million tons in 1956-57. As compared to 1956-57, production in 1957-58 of bajra increased by 637 thousand tons, the estimated production being 3·52 million tons while that of jowar was 8·25 million tons registering an increase of 997 thousand tons over the production in 1956-57. However, due to the heavy short-fall in rice and wheat production, prices of coarse grains recorded a rise during the year in sympathy with the prices of other cereals.

Jowar—The price index for jowar which had reached the peak at 128 in July 1957 and had gradually shown a seasonal decline to 92 in February 1958, rose to 109·1 in August.

Thereafter the prices of jowar shared the general downward trend in the prices of foodgrains. The Jowar index, however, stood at 104·2 at the close of December. Prices at individual centres also recorded a similar trend. Price of Jowar at Hyderabad (Andhra Pradesh) which was as low as Rs. 11·00 per md. in March 1958, rose to Rs. 13·19 in July and stayed more or less at that level till September, after which a decline was noticed, so that the jowar price stood at Rs. 11·31 in December. At Akola (Bombay), the price of jowar rose from Rs. 8·25 in January to Rs. 12·00 in August, but thereafter receded to Rs. 9·20 in December. Similarly at Ujjain (Madhya Pradesh), the price of jowar went up to Rs. 13·00 in August from Rs. 9·50 in April and then gradually declined to Rs. 12·00 in December. At Jhansi (Uttar Pradesh), the price of jowar rose from Rs. 8·89 in January to Rs. 15·23 in August, and then receded to Rs. 12·55 towards the close of December. At Jhalawar (Rajasthan), the price showed a gradual upswing from January 1958 and touched Rs. 13·25 in August. Thereafter it registered a downward trend and stood at Rs. 10·50 in December.

Bajra—Prices of bajra rose from February to September 1958, after which they receded. The all-India index of wholesale prices of bajra rose from 114 in January to 131 in September and then declined to 126·8 in November. In December, it rose slightly to 127·8. At individual centres also the prices of bajra exhibited more or less a similar trend. Thus the price at Anakapalli (Andhra Pradesh) went up from Rs. 11·62 in January to Rs. 13·00 in June. After remaining constant in July the price declined to Rs. 12·00 in August and September but again rose gradually to Rs. 12·50 towards the close of the year. At Rajkot (Bombay), the price of bajra went up from Rs. 16·60 in January to Rs. 19·00 in August and thereafter declined gradually to Rs. 16·32 in November but rose slightly again to Rs. 16·74 in December. At Hissar (Punjab), the price of bajra rose from Rs. 10·76 in January to Rs. 15·87 in August and then declined gradually to Rs. 13·75 in November; however, it again rose to Rs. 14·50 in December. At Jodhpur (Rajasthan), the price increased from Rs. 12·81 in January to Rs. 16·00 in August and ruled steady at that level till the end of the year. At Agra (U.P.), the price of bajra rose from Rs. 10·50 in January to Rs. 16·25 in August and then declined to Rs. 15·25 in October; thereafter, the price climbed up again to attain the level of Rs. 16·12 in December.

Maize—The production of maize was placed at 3·04 million tons in 1957-58 as against 3·01 million tons in 1956-57 showing an increase of 0·9 per cent. The all-India index number of wholesale prices of maize however, rose from 99 in February 1958 to the peak level of 137·3 in August and then declined to 118·7 in October. The price index again increased in November and December so as to reach 121·5 in December.

At individual centres maize prices evinced a hardening tendency till August but thereafter a decline in prices followed. Thus the price of maize at Khagaria (Bihar) rose from Rs. 13 in March to Rs. 17·50 in August, but then receded to touch Rs. 13·61 in December 1958. At Dohad (Bombay), the price of maize went up from Rs. 12·00 in January to Rs. 15·75 in August and then declined to Rs. 13·00 at the end of the year. At Ludhiana (Punjab), the price rose from Rs. 10·87 in January to Rs. 15·75 in September but thereafter declined steadily to Rs. 14·31 in December. At Bhilwara (Rajasthan), the price of maize ruled at Rs. 10·62 in January, Rs. 15·50 in August and Rs. 13·12 in December. At Bahraich (Uttar Pradesh), it ruled at Rs. 11·00, Rs. 18·75 and Rs. 14·00 per maund during the same months.

Ragi—Production of ragi declined to 1·67 million tons in 1957-58 from 1·71 in 1956-57, showing thereby a fall of 2·3 per cent. The wholesale price index for ragi after remaining steady at 103 in January and February, declined in April and May and then again rose from 103·4 in June to 106·1 in August. It then took a downward trend falling to 99·1 in November and 101·1 in December. Prices at individual centres exhibited a similar tendency.

Wheat—Production of wheat in India was estimated at 7·74 million tons in 1957-58 as against a record production of 9·31 million tons in 1956-57. The decrease was due partly to a fall in the area under the crop and partly to a prolonged spell of drought during the month after the sowing of the crop. The index of prices of wheat which took a downward turn in March 1957 continued to decline till February 1958 when it stood at 84. Following the poor kharif crops, prices of wheat started hardening from April 1958—a process accentuated by the short-fall in the output of rabi crops also. The upward trend continued throughout the rest of the year. In December 1958, the index for wheat stood at 111·4 as against 86 in January.

The prices at individual centres also revealed more or less a similar trend. The wholesale price of wheat at Moga (Punjab) declined from Rs. 14·87 per maund in January to Rs. 13·87 in March. Thereafter it went up from Rs. 11·00 in April to Rs. 19·31 in December. Similarly at Barnala (Punjab), the price rose from Rs. 13·00 in March to Rs. 17·91 in December. At Kotah (Rajasthan), it rose from Rs. 10·75 in January to Rs. 20·50 in October but dropped to Rs. 17·00 in December. At Khagaria (Bihar), the price advanced from Rs. 18·50 in April to Rs. 25·00 in December. At Rajkot (Bombay), the price rose from Rs. 16·80 in April to Rs. 23·64 in December. At Hapur (Uttar Pradesh), the price went on rising from Rs. 14·81 in April to reach Rs. 24·75 in December. Similarly at Chandauli, wheat price rose gradually from Rs. 11·75 in April to Rs. 21·00 in December.

With a view to lessening the pressure on wheat prices, the Government imported about 2·67 million tons of wheat for distribution through fair price shops at rates below the market prices. As a result of distribution of larger quantities, the stocks of wheat with the Government declined from 0·85 million tons in the beginning of 1958 and 1·05 million tons at the end of April to 0·52 million tons at the end of the year.

Barley—The output of barley in 1957-58 was estimated at 2·24 million tons as against 2·83 million tons in 1956-57, showing a fall of 20·9 per cent over the preceding year. The index of wholesale prices of barley which started falling from September 1957 continued to decline till March 1958 when the index stood at 82. Thereafter the index rose sharply and reached 138·6 in December. The prices at individual centres exhibited more or less a similar trend. At Jaunpur (U.P.), there was a steep rise from Rs. 10·50 in January to Rs. 17·50 in October to decline slightly to Rs. 16·30 towards the end of December. At Hapur (Uttar Pradesh), the price rose from Rs. 8·75 in January to Rs. 17·50 in October and then showed a slight decline over the next two months to close at Rs. 16·50 in December.

Gram—Due to unfavourable weather conditions production of gram during 1957-58 declined to 4·98 million tons from the peak production of 6·26 million tons in 1956-57—a decrease of 20·5 per cent. The price was rising all through the year. The price index of gram went up steadily from 61 in February 1958 to 108 in December. Prices at individual centres also witnessed the same trend. At Patna (Bihar), price of gram advanced from Rs. 12·00 in January to Rs. 17·50 per maund in December; at Hansi (Punjab), from Rs. 9·75 in January to Rs. 18·75 in December; at Ganganagar (Rajasthan), from Rs. 9·75 in February to 10·75 in May and thereafter it remained steady at Rs. 10·50 throughout the rest of the year; at Kanpur (U.P.), it rose from Rs. 9·69 in January to Rs. 19·39 in December; at Bhind (Madhya Pradesh), the price rose from Rs. 9·27 in January to Rs. 18·82 in November and declined by Rs. 1·04 to Rs. 17·78 in December.

SUGAR AND GUR

Production of sugar directly from sugarcane during the 1957-58 (November to October) season amounted to 19·78 lakh tons, showing a decline of 51 thousand tons, or 2·51 per cent over the 1956-57 season's production of 20·29 lakh tons. The decrease in production of sugar in 1957-58 was due mainly to a setback to the sugarcane crop, diversion of cane from vacuum pan factories to Khandsari manufacture and the resultant shorter duration of the crushing season.

The domestic sugar market moved generally within reasonable limits during 1957-58 (November to October). In the first few months of the season, prices remained reasonably stable except for a nominal marking up of wholesale quotations as a result of replacement of Sales Tax by Excise Duty which, however, did not influence the consumer price. Towards the middle of the season, prices tended to go up in an exaggerated anticipation of Government announcement in respect of sugar exports. The Government's announcement on the 27 June 1958 of a modest export quota of 50 thousand tons as against the higher market expectations, together with a warning to the trade to take suitable steps in the event of an undue rise in prices, had a sobering effect on prices. Subsequently, however, the market again showed a hardening tendency due largely to speculative activity. To arrest the rise in prices, the Government decided to fix ex-factory price of sugar at Rs. 36·00 per maund (f.o.r. factory station) for Uttar Pradesh and North Bihar and Rs. 36·50 in Punjab for I.S.S. D-29 grade with prescribed differentials for other grades. The Government also decided to requisition and distribute sugar at fixed prices on ex-factory basis as also for despatch to out-station centres on 'freight-to-pay' basis. It further decided to make allotments of sugar to Delhi, Kanpur, Calcutta and Bombay at fixed f.o.r. destination prices of Rs. 36·50, Rs. 36·75, Rs. 38·00 and Rs. 39·00 per maund respectively. The control on bank advances against sugar stocks was also strengthened on July 18, 1958 in two ways viz. (i) by raising the minimum margin of advances to trade against sugar stocks from 35 per cent to 45 per cent and (ii) by extending the scope of this control to include advances to 'sugar manufacturing concerns' against such stocks of sugar, as have been lifted from the mills premises and on which excise duty has already been paid. These measures had a salutary effect on the market.

The price of sugar during the year rose from Rs. 35·45 in January to Rs. 38·87 in July at Hapur and then receded to Rs. 37·44 in December 1958. At Kanpur, sugar rose from Rs. 33·69 in January to Rs. 38·50 in July and then gradually eased to Rs. 37·00 in December. At Jullundur (Punjab), it rose from Rs. 36·50 to Rs. 39·50 in July and then after falling to Rs. 37·25 in August went up to Rs. 38·00 in December. At Calcutta, the price rose from Rs. 37·00 in January to Rs. 40·00 in June to fall to Rs. 38·75 in December. Prices of sugar ranged between Rs. 38·55 in January and Rs. 41·31 in December at Bombay and between Rs. 38·45 in May and Rs. 40·00 in December at Madras. The Economic Adviser's index of wholesale prices of sugar (Base: 1952-53=100) which stood at 117 in January went up to 123·9 in July and thereafter declined to 121·3 and 120·8 in August and September 1958 respectively and remained at this level for the rest of the year.

The production of gur (including khandsari) during the 1957-58 season was estimated at 34·3 lakh tons as against 35·6 lakh tons in the preceding season. The general level of prices of both gur and khandsari during 1957-58 was higher than in the previous season due to a short-fall in production. The rise in prices was also due partly to increase in demand for gur, particularly in rural areas. Towards the close of 1958, prices registered some decline due to the crushing of the new (1958-59) sugarcane crop.

The Economic Adviser's index of wholesale prices of gur rose steadily from 104 in February 1958 to 144·9 in October and thereafter commenced falling to touch 120·5 in December. The prices of gur ranged between Rs. 11·50 and 22·50 at Hapur, between Rs. 10 and Rs. 24·25 at Kanpur, between Rs. 9·14 and Rs. 19·34 at Madras and between Rs. 17·50 and Rs. 26 at Bombay.

OILSEEDS AND VEGETABLE OILS

Production of the five oilseeds (groundnut, rape & mustard, sesamum, linseed and castorseed) during 1957-58 was estimated at 60·51 lakh tons as against 61·76 lakh tons during 1956-57, showing a decline of about 2 per cent. Prices of oilseeds and vegetable oils continued to rule at high levels during 1958. There was an almost steady rise from the early months till the middle of the year, when the upward pressure on prices was accentuated by the relaxation of restrictions on exports as well as release of export quotas of oilseeds, vegetable oils and oilcakes and removal of export duties on oilseeds and edible oils. However, with the arrival of the new crop of kharif oilseeds in the market, prices of oilseeds and oils with the exception of linseed and linseed oil, eased considerably towards the close of the year. The Economic Adviser's index for prices of oilseeds as a group which stood at 114 in January 1958 witnessed an upward trend till September when the index reached the peak level of 137·3. Thereafter, it steadily declined to touch 122·1 in December.

A similar trend was noticed in the edible oils group. The index number of prices of edible vegetable oils rose from 119 in January 1958 to 132·7 in September and declined to 118·1 in December. The average indices of wholesale prices for oilseeds and vegetable oils for 1958 were 123·6 and 123·2 respectively as against the corresponding 1957 average of 122·4 and 128·3.

Groundnut and Groundnut Oil—Production of groundnut increased from 4,200 thousand tons in 1956-57 to 4,436 thousand tons in 1957-58. However, prices of groundnut and groundnut oil in the important markets of the country registered an upward trend during the first three quarters of 1958. The prices rose steadily till May, after which there was a sudden spurt in June. The oilseeds prices continued to rise till September after which they declined. This rise in prices after June was attributable to the release of export quotas in respect of HPS groundnut and groundnut oil and removal of export duties thereon. Exports of groundnut and groundnut oil which were banned early in 1956 were allowed for the first time in June. Export duty of Rs. 150 per ton leviable on groundnut oil was abolished completely at the end of June and that of Rs. 300 per ton on groundnut was removed in the second week of July. After September 1958, prices of groundnut and groundnut oil declined due to heavy arrivals of the new crop. The dull export outlook on account of a wide disparity between internal and external prices also contributed to the decline in prices during the last quarter of 1958.

The Economic Adviser's index number of wholesale prices for groundnut rose from 101 in January 1958 to 132 in September thereafter it moved down steadily and stood at 105 in December. The corresponding indices for groundnut oil were 98, 118·5 and 100·3. The average indices of wholesale prices of groundnut and groundnut oil for 1958 were 133·3 and 105·3 respectively as compared to the corresponding average of 110·2 and 106·8 for 1957.

Linseed and Linseed Oil—Prices of linseed and linseed oil showed an erratic trend during 1958 though the tendency was in the upward direction. In the latter half of the year the rise in prices was more pronounced. Contrary to the general trend in other oilseeds and vegetable oils, linseed and linseed oil did not show any fall in prices towards the end of the year. The fall in production of linseed in India from 384 thousand tons in 1956-57 to 249 thousand tons in 1957-58 exerted a bullish influence on the price of Indian linseed oil. Other factors which contributed to the rise of the price were the decontrol of the export of linseed oil in August 1958 or generally encouraging export outlook for Indian linseed oil and the unfavourable reports of the 1957 linseed crops in U.S.A. and Canada.

The Economic Adviser's index number of wholesale prices for linseed declined from 113 in January 1958 to 109·5 in May, but thereafter it rose to 128·6 in December. The corresponding indices for linseed oil were 111, 107·7 and 117·3. The average indices of wholesale prices of linseed and linseed oil for 1958 were 118·2 and 113·8 as against 112·8 and 109·3 for 1957.

Castorseed and Castor Oil—During 1957-58, production of castorseed declined to 89 thousand tons from 124 thousand tons in 1956-57. As a result of this decline in production, prices of castorseed rose during the first three quarters of 1958. Towards the close of the year, they slightly declined. On the other hand, the prices of castor oil remained more or less steady during the first three quarters of 1958, showing some decline during the closing quarter. This was due mainly to the featureless export outlook for castor oil arising from keen Brazilian competition. The abolition of export duty on castor oil in July and decontrol of castor oil exports also failed to give more than temporary encouragement to castor oil prices.

The Economic Adviser's index number of wholesale prices for castorseed rose from 98 in January 1958 to 115 in September but declined slightly to 113·1 in December. Castor oil index declined from 102 in January to 97 in February; it rose again in subsequent months and stood at 101·8 in August to move down to 92·2 in December. The average indices of wholesale prices of castorseed and castor oil for 1958 were 105·8 and 97·6 as compared to 115·8 and 110·3 for 1957.

Mustard Seed and Mustard Oil—Production of mustard seed declined from 1,026 thousand tons in 1956-57 to 923 thousand tons in 1957-58. Prices of mustard seed and mustard oil showed an uneven trend during 1958. Prices which ruled high during the closing months of 1957 declined considerably at the beginning of the year. However, they rose appreciably during March to September but receded in the closing months of the year.

The Economic Adviser's index number of wholesale prices for rapeseed rose from 134 in January to 160·8 in August but moved down to 142·3 in December. The average index for 1958 was 147·0 as against 161·2 in the preceding year. Similarly mustard oil index rose from 145 in January to 157·2 in September since when it declined to 136·7 in December. The average index for the year 1958 stood at 148·3 as compared to 173·6 during the corresponding period last year.

Sesamum Seed and Sesamum Oil—Production of sesamum seed declined from 442 thousand tons in 1956-57 to 354 thousand tons in 1957-58. Prices of sesamum seed and sesamum oil which ruled at relatively lower levels at the beginning of the year rose in the subsequent months but moved down in the closing months of the year. The rise in prices was attributable to release of export quotas for sesamum seed and sesamum oil.

The Economic Adviser's index number of wholesale prices for sesamum seed which stood at 113 in January 1958 moved up to 118·7 in August but declined to 107·4 in December, the average index being 112·7 for 1958 as against 120·8 for 1957. Sesamum oil index went down from 117 in January 1958 to 113 in February but then rose again to 118·1 in October to decline to 107·6 in December, the average index for 1958 being 115·3 as compared to 124·1 for 1957.

Copra and Coconut Oil—Prices of both copra and coconut oil showed a buoyant tendency during 1958. Copra which was quoted in January at Rs. 54·56 per maund at Alleppey and Rs. 58·77 at Bombay advanced during the year to Rs. 57·06 and Rs. 60·73 respectively at the close of December. Coconut oil prices also advanced from Rs. 80·61 per maund at Cochin and Rs. 88·16 at Bombay in January to Rs. 85 and Rs. 91·83 respectively in December. The Government of India's import policy for copra and coconut oil which was restrictive during the year 1958 tended to push up the price. During the two licensing periods April—September and October—March 1959, except for the grant of licences to actual users on ad hoc basis in the case of copra, no imports of copra and coconut oil were allowed; while during the preceding licensing period of October 1957—March 1958, imports of both copra and coconut oil were allowed on a quota basis of 20 per cent to established importers besides the actual users on ad hoc basis in the case of copra.

COTTON

During 1958 prices of cotton showed a declining trend. The fall in cotton prices was attributable to poor overseas enquiries and consequent accumulation of stocks. Expectation of a reduction in export duty, disappointment over the delay in the release of an export quota and expectation of a further decline in mill consumption also contributed to this fall. In December 1958, due to better overseas enquiries, prices of cotton, however, improved slightly and the year closed with the prices of Jarilla MGF at Bombay at Rs. 660 per candy. During the course of the year, this variety experienced a significant fall of Rs. 100 per candy. The Economic Adviser's index number of wholesale prices of cotton fell from 104 in January 1958 to 93·7 towards the end of November, after which it showed some improvement and stood at 98·8 at the close of December.

JUTE

The raw jute and jute goods markets during 1958 were characterised by a substantial fall in prices right from the beginning of the year. Assam bottom jute which was quoted at Rs. 26·75 per maund at the end of 1957 declined to Rs. 26·00 in January, 1958 and to Rs. 24·00 in February. The decrease was due to lack of overseas enquiries and increased arrivals from upcountry centres. With a view to arrest the sharp fall, the I.J.M.A. on 26th February 1958, advised its members not to sell gunnies below the specified minimum prices. In March and April prices of Assam Bottom showed a slight recovery and advanced to Rs. 25·00 and Rs. 25·75 per maund respectively. Some enquiries for jute goods from Egypt, Argentina and United States helped in this recovery small as it was. Prices tended to decline in August and in the following two months due to the arrival of the new crop. Assam Bottom touched the low level of Rs. 20·75 per maund in December 1958, a fall of 22 per cent over the year. Factors responsible for the significant decline were the favourable prospects for the 1958-59 jute crop, lack of overseas interest and the announcement of the new minimum prices by Pakistan during the Puja holidays.

A similar trend was noticed in the case of hessians and sackings. At the end of 1957, the prices of hessians and sackings, were quoted at Calcutta at Rs. 39·40 per 100 yards and Rs. 106·30 per 100 bags respectively. A sharp decline was noticed upto May 1958. In June and July prices rose slightly due to the foreign enquiries and increased speculative activity in the jute goods market. Thereafter prices declined and both hessian and sacking at Calcutta were quoted at Rs. 41·25 per 100 yards and Rs. 92·80 per 100 bags respectively.

The Economic Adviser's index number of prices of jute manufactures and raw jute displayed a similar trend during the period under review. In December 1958, the index of prices of jute manufactures and jute raw stood at 85.3 and 109.7 as against 93 and 129 respectively in 1957.

WOOL

During 1958, prices of wool displayed a divergent trend. Price of white assorted variety of wool at Bangalore which was quoted at Rs. 102.85 per maund in January, after rising to 107.87 in February suffered a setback and declined to Rs. 82.28 per maund in March 1958. In April, the price again rose to Rs. 102.85 and stayed there till the end of May, later it declined and the year closed with the price of assorted variety of wool at Rs. 66.65 which was lower by Rs. 15.63 than the price ruling a year earlier. A similar trend was noticed in yellow variety at Dabra (Madhya Pradesh). At Mahboobnagar (Andhra Pradesh), however, prices of white wool registered an increase from August onwards.

TURMERIC

The price of turmeric in India fluctuated within narrow limits. The price of turmeric at Calcutta declined slightly to Rs. 17.50 during January 1958, from Rs. 18.00 per maund at the end of December 1957. In the following months, it declined further to Rs. 17.00. The price rose to Rs. 21.00 in March and hovered between Rs. 20.00 and Rs. 21.00 throughout the remaining part of the year. The closing quotation at the end of December 1958 was Rs. 20.00. The all-India index of wholesale prices of turmeric declined from 74 in January to 63 in February and 62 in March, but thereafter rose to 91.5 in July and again declined to 87.7 in December 1958.

TEA

The production of tea during 1957-58 (June-May) was placed at 685 million lbs. as against 686 million lbs. in 1956-57 registering a small decline of 1 million lbs. over the preceding year. During the year under review, prices of tea were appreciably higher than those in the preceding year both in the internal and export markets. A notable feature was the active and sustained demand from foreign markets especially U.K., U.S.S.R., Iran and Turkey, lending considerable support to the prices. The revival of demand from U.K., the most important buyer of Indian tea, was mainly due to reduction of bank rate followed by a general relaxation of the credit squeeze in that country.

The downward trend in the prices of tea noticed in the later part of 1957 was reversed in the beginning of the year 1958, when there was an appreciable recovery in prices. However, prices again sagged in March 1958 for lack of active demand. In the subsequent two months i.e. in April and May 1958, prices again looked up on the support of the Calcutta market by U.K. buyers. The season (1958-59) opened in June 1958 on an optimistic note with a strong buying tendency. The tone of the market became somewhat weak in July; but sustained activities of the buyers from U.S.S.R. and internal operators helped maintaining the prices at a stable level in September. Thanks to the prospect of a sizeable increase in the North India crop in October, prices again suffered a setback from the middle of November to middle of December 1958.

The all-India index of wholesale prices of tea (Base: 1952-53 100) declined from 162 in January 1958 to 152 in March, thereafter the index gradually rose to 192 in July 1958. It gradually declined and touched 160 in December. A more or less similar trend was apparent at individual centres. Thus, at Calcutta the price of medium dust for internal consumption fell from Rs. 1.58 per lb. in January to Rs. 1.56 in March. Rising again, reached the peak level of Rs. 1.88 in October and then declined to Rs. 1.86 during November and Rs. 1.74 in December.

COFFEE

The production of coffee during 1957-58 stood at 87·7 million lbs. against 78·9 million lbs. in 1956-57 showing a rise of about 11 per cent. The upward trend in the prices of all grades of coffee noticed towards the last quarter of the 1956-57 season (August-July) continued upto about the month of November 1957-58 season. The rising trend was, however, reversed from December 1957 onwards due to increased releases of coffee from the pool each month. With the scaling down of the releases from the pool from April 1958 the prices again tended to rise from May to June. In July with an increase in the releases from the pool the prices took a downward turn.

The trend of prices in the local sales generally followed the same pattern as that in the pool sales, the variations in prices being lower than the corresponding figures of pool sales. At Bangalore, Plantation A started with a firm tone with Rs. 240 per cwt. in January and declined to Rs. 225·00 in March 1958. In April it again rose to Rs. 244·00. Thereafter remaining about Rs. 236·00 during the following three months, the price declined during August and September; subsequently there was an improvement to close at Rs. 250·00 in December at Bangalore.

The all-India index of wholesale prices of coffee (Base: 1952-53=100) declined from 88 in January 1958 to 82 in April which again rose to 87 in June. From November onwards the index firmed up and reached 92 in December 1958 or 4 points higher than December 1957.

RUBBER

Prices of rubber are fixed by the Government from time to time in consultation with the Rubber Prices Advisory Committee, as laid down under Section 13(1) of the Rubber (Production and Marketing) Act, 1947. Apart from reviewing periodically the cost structure, the question of granting protection to rubber was referred by the Government to the Tariff Board in 1951. The Board fixed a price of Rs. 128·50 per 100 lbs. for one year and the Tariff Commission after examining the issue in 1952 raised it to Rs. 138·00 per 100 lbs. inclusive of an allowance of Rs. 6·82 for rehabilitation. After reviewing the cost structure again in 1955 the Government decided that the prices of raw rubber fixed in 1952 should be raised with effect from February 1955 to Rs. 150 per 100 lbs. (f.o.b. Cochin) for Group I rubber with suitable adjustments for other grades. These prices were further raised in September 1955 on account of the subsequent upward revision of the rates of cess on rubber from 50 nP to Rs. 6·25 per 100 lbs. Accordingly the price of Group I rubber was fixed at Rs. 155·75 per 100 lbs. (f.o.b. Cochin) with suitable differentials for other Groups. These prices are still in vogue since September 1955.

BLACK PEPPER

The production of black pepper during 1957-58 stood at 27 thousand tons, same as in 1956-57. As regards prices, an erratic trend was witnessed during 1958. Price of black pepper at Alleppey which was quoted at Rs. 58·16 rose gradually to Rs. 79·59 in July 1958. Thereafter, it took a steady downward trend and touched Rs. 62·75 at the end of December 1958 as against Rs. 64·28 in December 1957. The main factor behind this decline in the price of black pepper was lower off-take by U.S.A., U.K. and West Germany—India's traditional overseas customers.

CHILLIES

The output of chillies according to the partially revised estimates increased from 342 thousand tons in 1956-57 to 362 thousand tons in 1957-58. The year 1958 opened with chillies price at Rs. 32·00 per maund in January 1958 at Patna (Bihar), which rose gradually

TOBACCO

According to the partially revised estimate of tobacco crop for 1957-58, production of tobacco was placed at 2.37 lakh tons compared to 2.94 lakh tons during the preceding year, showing a decrease of 19.4 per cent.

The Economic Adviser's index number of wholesale prices of tobacco (raw) which stood at 96 at the end of 1957 declined steadily in the early months of 1958 and stood at 88.9 in May. In the following two months there was a slight improvement and the index moved up to 89.7 in July. In the next two months it again declined by 3 points; subsequently there was a steady rise in the index during the rest of the year and it reached 94.7 in December.

Price of Motihari (medium) variety of tobacco at Calcutta which stood at Rs. 148.63 per maund in December 1957 declined in the first few months of the year and closed at Rs. 141.16 in May, 1958. There was a gradual improvement thereafter and the price moved up to Rs. 176.16 at the end of December. The price of jatty (medium) variety at Calcutta exhibited a downward trend in the year under review. The price moved down from Rs. 108.63 per maund in December 1957 to as low as Rs. 81.16 in mid-September 1958. Thereafter, the price improved gradually and the quotation for the year was Rs. 91.16. The prices of Nipani chewing tobacco remained steady at Rs. 60.00 per maund till the third week of October 1958, and in the months of March and April when they ruled at Rs. 65.00 per maund. The prices of Nipani variety at Bombay appreciated to Rs. 65 in the last week of October 1958 and continued to remain at that level for the rest of the year.

BETELNUTS

Prices of betelnut in India ruled at high levels at the end of 1957 and in the first half of 1958. In December 1957 and January 1958 the price of husked variety of betelnuts at Mangalore was quoted at Rs. 150.56 per maund. A considerable increase in prices was witnessed in the next few months and at the end of April, price of betelnuts increased to Rs. 192, the highest price reached during 1958. Thereafter prices moved erratically with a general tendency to decline. The quotation at the end of December 1958 was Rs. 110 compared to Rs. 150.56 in December 1957. The average price for the year 1958 was Rs. 152.54 as against Rs. 135.77 for 1957 and Rs. 119.23 for 1956. The average all-India index of wholesale prices for 1958 was also higher and stood at 213.1 as compared to 158.4 for 1957.

LAC

The year 1958 opened with T.N. Shellac price at Rs. 75.00 per maund at Calcutta which advanced to Rs. 83.00 by the end of that month in response to good overseas demand and reports of crop failure in Thailand. During the succeeding months, overseas demand shrunk and the price declined to Rs. 74.00 at the end of March and to Rs. 62.00 by the end of April. In order to check this fall in shellac price in May 1958 exporters formed themselves into an association called the Indian Lac Exporters' Association which announced the minimum export price for T.N. shellac at Rs. 70 per maund. This move contributed to a slight rise in T.N. Shellac price during June; at the end of the month the price stood at Rs. 65.00. After a slight decline in July, the price continued to be quoted at Rs. 65·00 in August and September. On larger demand from overseas, especially from U.S.A. and Russia, the price of T.N. Shellac at Calcutta registered a further rise in October and was quoted at Rs. 67·00. However, during the subsequent two months the price again declined and the year ended with Rs. 64·00 per maund at Calcutta.

CONCLUSION

To sum up, the year 1958 witnessed a significant rise in the prices of foodgrains, especially of rice, wheat and small millets. This rise in prices was attributable to a substantial short-fall in production of foodgrains, and increase in consumer demand through growth of population and increase in per capita income. The Government took a number of measures to check the rising prices of foodgrains and these, coupled with the fresh arrivals from the bumper kharif crop of 1958-59, succeeded in checking the price rise in the last quarter of the year under review.

The prices of oilseeds and oils also showed a rising trend during the year 1958, on account of a slight shortfall in production and liberalisation of export policies for oilseeds, oils and oilcakes during the year. During the last quarter of the year the prices of oils and oilseeds eased following arrivals from the new crop of 1958-59.

The behaviour of prices of cotton and jute during 1958, was in contrast with the general rise in prices of other agricultural commodities. The fall in prices of both cotton and jute came as a result of slackening demand and accumulation of stocks. An additional factor which depressed jute prices in the closing months of the year 1958 was the substantial increase in the size of 1959-60 jute crop.
